ABOUT THIS SHOW

This show is kindly made possible by a grant from the Connecticut Poultry Breeders Society and volunteers including: Rick & Allison Trojanoski, Steve Stanulonis, Cheryl Barnaba, Cesar Botelho, Imani Rodriguez, Jake Cook, John & Alexis Rose Gradzik, Olivia Lahner.

The Friends and Family Poultry Club's inaugural show was hatched from a shared passion for purebred poultry and a drive to create more opportunities for poultry enthusiasts to exhibit their birds. Our mission is to cultivate long-term success in the hobby, honor the breeders who paved the way before us, and foster lifelong friendships along the way.

Because we are starting fresh with just enough funding to bring this show to life, we are sticking to the basics this year. With modest initial funding, our primary focus this year is delivering a solid, old fashion poultry show for our exhibitors, young and old. We kindly ask for your patience and enthusiasm as our new club grows. Your support and participation in our fundraising efforts today will directly enable us to return and host another show next fall!

We chose the name Friends and Family Poultry Club because we truly mean it. For those who aren't comfortable using a computer, please give me (Cheryl) or Steve a call — we are more than happy to take your entries right over the phone.
